*O*net, Interest Profiler, Instrument, a Tool for Career Exploration, 2000 ,2001*

O*NET Career Interests Inventory JIST Publishing Editors, Jist Publishing, 2001-12-01 The U.S. Department of Labor collects detailed information on all major jobs and keeps it in a database called the Occupational Information Network (O*NET). This database describes more than 1,000 major jobs covering about 95% of the labor force. JIST has created a much simpler, much less expensive version of the O*NET Interest Profiler, developed by the U.S. Department of Labor. High school-aged youth through adults are given an excellent starting place to explore jobs with this assessment. Test takers indicate whether they like or dislike 180 work activities and score their responses. Their interests are ranked within the six Holland personality types and matched with O*NET job titles. This assessment fosters self-directed behaviors and takes only 30 minutes to complete. Plus, JIST publishes the O*NET Dictionary of Occupational Titles, perfect for use after taking this assessment.

Picture Interest Career Survey Second Edition BRADY,2011-05-18 The best-selling Picture Interest Inventory is a language-free career interest inventory for those with low reading levels, limited English, or special needs. Individuals identify their occupational interests by using pictures of people at work rather than text-based items. Individuals review 36 sets of three pictures and choose which of the three portrayed occupations seems most interesting. The pictures correspond to Holland occupational interest categories: Realistic, Investigative, Artistic, Social, Enterprising, and Conventional. After test takers complete all 36 items, they score their responses using colour-coded columns and record their scores on a visual profile. Based on their scores, people discover their Occupational PICS Code, a three-letter Holland interest designation that can be used for career research and counselling. Descriptions of Holland codes and related career fields are included for those who wish to interpret scores themselves. The assessment takes less than 15 minutes to complete and is suited to all backgrounds. It can be self-administered, self-scored, and given individually or in groups. Sold in packages of 25.

Discovering Your Career In Business Timothy Butler,James Waldroop,1996-12-17 Designed to help both those just starting out in business and those in mid-career find work that is truly satisfying, this guide uses interest inventory in conjunction with a series of other exercises to help readers discover the particular combination of activities that best matches their personality and gain insight as to how those activities are linked with real jobs in business. Includes Windows disk.

Occupational Outlook Handbook United States. Bureau of Labor Statistics,1957

Dictionary of Holland Occupational Codes Gary D. Gottfredson,John L. Holland,1996 Based on John L. Holland's typology of vocational personalities and work environments ... individuals and environments are classified according to their resemblance to six ideal types: Realistic (R), Investigative (I), Artistic (A), Social (S), Enterprising (E), and Conventional (C).--Cover.

Transform Interests Into Jobs Carol Christen,Robin Roman Wright,2015-09-30 Transform Interests into Jobs: A Career Practitioner's Guide is sure to become a favorite in career practitioner's libraries. Completing the activities in the workbook guides students and clients to jobs that match their ideal. This workbook helps young adults create financially independent, sustainable lives. There are 30,000 jobs at work in the United States. Recruiters divide jobs into over 80 job families. The problem of career choice for teens and young adults isn't one of scarcity, but dividing the possibilities into reasonable categories that can be effectively researched for jobs that may suit. A young person's interests provide the compass for guiding that research. Why career practitioners of all kinds, Guidance Counselors, Career Coaches, Career Counselors, and College Career Center Counselors, will love Transform Interests into Jobs: It works It can be used with individuals or groups It breaks down the sometimes complicated process of turning interests into fields and then into job families and finally into job titles into actionable bite-sized steps The worksheets are reproducible. They are intended to be copied and reused with many clients or workshop participants. It contains a list of the 80+ job families currently used by recruiters What career leaders are saying about Transform Interests into Jobs: A Career Practitioner's Guide: The authors' steadfast respect for self-awareness and very clear and practical steps to complete the What, Where and How of the Parachute Process makes it an easy to follow and thorough map to help teens self-direct their own process. -Rich Feller, Ph.D, author, professor and NCDA past president This workbook successfully focuses on a career education need of our youth and, ultimately, our American society! ... for high school students, this workbook material is a necessity! -Helen Harkness, Ph.D., futurist and founder of Career Design Associates

"So What Are You Going to Do with That?" Susan Basalla, Maggie Debelius, 2008-09-15 Graduate schools churn out tens of thousands of Ph.D.'s and M.A.'s every year. Half of all college courses are taught by adjunct faculty. The chances of an academic landing a tenure-track job seem only to shrink as student loan and credit card debts grow. What's a frustrated would-be scholar to do? Can he really leave academia? Can a non-academic job really be rewarding—and will anyone want to hire a grad-school refugee? With "So What Are You Going to Do with That?" Susan Basalla and Maggie Debelius—Ph.D.'s themselves—answer all those questions with a resounding "Yes!" A witty, accessible guide full of concrete advice for anyone contemplating the jump from scholarship to the outside world, "So What Are You Going to Do with That?" covers topics ranging from career counseling to interview etiquette to translating skills learned in the academy into terms an employer can understand and appreciate. Packed with examples and stories from real people who have successfully made this daunting—but potentially rewarding—transition, and written with a deep understanding of both the joys and difficulties of the academic life, this fully revised and up-to-date edition will be indispensable for any graduate student or professor who has ever glanced at her CV, flipped through the want ads, and wondered, "What if?" "I will absolutely be recommending this book to our graduate students exploring their career options—I'd love to see it on the coffee tables in department lounges!"—Robin B. Wagner, former associate director for graduate career services, University of Chicago

Career Management for Life Jeffrey H. Greenhaus, Gerard A. Callanan, Veronica M. Godshalk, 2018-07-20 Career Management for Life provides students and employees with an integrative approach to managing their careers on an ongoing basis to achieve a satisfying balance between their work and their family responsibilities, community involvement, and personal interests. The career management model guides individuals through the different phases of their career from figuring out what their first job should be right to navigating the road to retirement. Expert authors Greenhaus, Callanan, and Godshalk bring their wealth of research experience to the book and demonstrate the individual and organizational sides of career management, allowing an appreciation of both. This material is well balanced by a set of practical tools, including self-assessments, case studies, and recommended interviews. The new edition also includes: An emphasis on attaining work-life balance, a topic that is of growing concern to workers at all stages of their careers. An updated focus on today's career contexts and stages. Material on technology and social media, now integrated throughout the book, to reflect the growing importance of these tools in career management and development. A chapter on international careers, helping individuals face a globalized world. Greater emphasis on alternative career paths, reflecting the newest trends and helping individuals understand all the different career options available to them. This rich and engaging book will help individuals understand themselves better, which in turn allows them to understand what they really want out of their career. Those taking (or offering) classes in career management or career development will come to rely on this book for years to follow.

Assessing the Career Interests of College Youth Gary R. Hanson,1974

Guide for Occupational Exploration Interest Inventory Michael Farr,2001 This self-directed and self-scored assessment matches the takers' interests to 250 job titles from the Occupational Outlook Handbook in only a few minutes. Using a direct intuitive approach, users are able to explore their career interests and job details, such as education and training, expected openings, and major skill categories based on data from the OOH. Its vast amount of job-related facts sets the GOE Interest Inventory apart from other career interest assessments. Includes worksheets for further exploration and planning.

Jackson Vocational Interest Survey Manual Douglas N. Ph. D. Jackson,1999

Farm Equipment Mechanic Canada. Human Resources Development Canada,Canada. Interprovincial Partnerships and Occupational Information Division,2000 This analysis is directed at the farm equipment mechanic who is capable of setting up, performing pre-delivery work, servicing, and repairing modern farm tractors, machinery, and attachments used in farm enterprises. The analysis identifies tasks and sub-tasks performed by such a mechanic, arranged in blocks of distinct operations relevant to that occupation. These blocks include workplace safety, basic job skills, engines & engine systems, drive train & drive train systems, hydraulics & hydraulic systems, electrical & electronic systems, steering & braking systems, structural components & accessories, and crop equipment. For each task, the document outlines the element of skill and knowledge needed to perform the task adequately, identifies any shifts or changes in technology that affect the task, lists tools and equipment required for the task, and provides an indication of whether the task has been validated by each province and territory. The appendix includes a list of tools and equipment used in the occupation, and a tabulation of the percentage of time a worker spends performing each block and task in a given year (by province/territory and for Canada as a whole).

The Career Playbook James M. Citrin,2015-04-21 Are you about to graduate and begin your job search? Or are you a young professional trying to choose the right field or looking for that perfect position that will catapult your career? Figuring out a career and getting a great job has never been more difficult. On top of that, today's graduates are looking for not only good jobs but positions that will help them launch careers in which they can grow and prosper. But knowing what to look for and how to actually land a great job is exceptionally challenging when you're trying to get an interview, make enough money, and position yourself for advancement. Based on an in-depth survey of thousands of graduates and young professionals, and hundreds of interviews with the world's top business and nonprofit leaders—not to mention James Citrin's decades of experience as a senior partner at the premier executive search firm Spencer Stuart—The Career Playbook offers recent graduates and aspiring young professionals actionable advice for excelling. From his practical tips on generating valuable introductions, nailing interviews, and negotiating compensation to strategic advice on the arc of a career, the importance of relationships, how to cultivate a mentor, and knowing when to change jobs or industries, Citrin provides an invaluable guide to the most urgent questions that are at the heart of every person's career deliberations. Packed with first-person advice from graduates and young professionals themselves, as well as the perspectives of seasoned CEOs, entrepreneurs, leaders, and experts, such as Virgin's Sir Richard Branson, Facebook's Sheryl Sandberg, Third Point Advisors' Daniel Loeb, author Malcolm Gladwell, and US Navy SEALs' Admiral Eric Olson, The Career Playbook is an essential resource for landing, launching, and thriving in your career.

Career Assessment Rodney L. Lowman, 2021 This book will help career assessors offer practical guidance that can make a real difference in people's lives. Key assessment factors include occupational interests, abilities, and personality characteristics.

Encyclopedia of Personality and Individual Differences Virgil Zeigler-Hill, Todd K. Shackelford, 2020-03-11 This Encyclopedia provides a comprehensive overview of individual differences within the domain of personality, with major sub-topics including assessment and research design, taxonomy, biological factors, evolutionary evidence, motivation, cognition and emotion, as well as gender differences, cultural considerations, and personality disorders. It is an up-to-date reference for this increasingly important area and a key resource for those who study intelligence, personality, motivation, aptitude and their variations within members of a group.
